Transition Towns is a worldwide movement of ordinary people finding ways of being sustainable and resilient for the health and wellbeing of our children, ourselves and our planet. It can be applied to whatever kind of community you live in: suburb, city, town, village or even an island.

This workshop is both a practical and informative introduction to the logic and framework of the Transition Towns model. This grassroots international movement builds localised and resilient communities in response to climate change and peak oil. The workshop is both informative and experiential, weaving together practice and theory, and the Transition required at both the personal and community level.

The feedback from participants overwhelmingly states that this two day interactive workshop offers key insights, understandings, and the awareness to help them in contributing to the journey toward a positive and abundant future.

Our facilitator, Jacinta Walsh, is part of a select group of officially recognised Transition Town Trainers worldwide and is a co-initiator of her local Transition group, Transition Mount Alexander in Castlemaine, Central Victoria.

Jacinta runs Consentric Facilitation services and has extensive background in behaviour change and community development processes. The inspirational approach of the Transition Town model combined with knowledge of adaptive governance, innovative group techniques, and skills as a facilitator and trainer, offer participants a unique and energising workshop,
